Kamy Schiffman is a seasoned litigation attorney with more than 20 years of experience. Kamy has extensive experience with a wide variety of personal injury and commercial litigation matters. Her practice focuses on professional liability, defending insurance agents, attorneys, real estate professionals, property management companies, business owners, and other professionals, including defense of claims for negligence/malpractice, breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, and violation of the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices – Consumer Protection Act (DTPA). Kamy also has experience defending carriers in bad faith suits.

Kamy focuses on the details and develops unique strategies to passionately defend the client. She is known for being conscientious and diligent and, most of all, dedicated to the client’s best interest.

Background

Prior to joining Thompson Coe, Kamy operated a solo practice where she handled all phases of litigation matters and represented both companies and individuals, primarily in construction disputes. She also provided contract attorney services to small law firms and solo practitioners, including a long-term position with a firm where she practiced in insurance litigation and coverage.
