Natalie D. Tarnosky is a litigation attorney with an emphasis in first-party coverage matters. Natalie devotes much of her practice to the representation of insurance carriers against allegations of bad faith, breach of contract, insurance code violations, and deceptive trade practices. Her practice also involves the representation of professionals, such as attorneys, insurance agents, and real estate brokers, in malpractice and breach of fiduciary duty claims.

While at South Texas College of Law, Natalie was a member of the Order of Barristers, a varsity advocate for South Texas' nationally ranked advocacy program, and a recipient of both the Dean's Student Advocacy Service Award and the C.A.L.I. Excellence of the Future Award in First Amendment Law.

Natalie has taken the advocacy skills she first learned at law school and incorporated them into her practice in order to successfully advocate for her clients in all manner of first-party property and professional liability lawsuits.
