Case K. Donovan is a native Austinite and an associate attorney in the litigation and casualty section, focusing primarily on personal injury and wrongful death lawsuits involving allegations of premises liability, dram shop, and general negligence. Case also has experience defending general contractors and subcontractors in construction defect cases.

Case applies his problem-solving abilities and personality to the practice of law, focusing on client needs and desires while leading them to favorable outcomes, whether that be dispositive relief, settlement, or trial.

Prior to joining the firm, Case served as an associate attorney at a boutique Texas-based litigation firm, where he represented insured clients in a wide range of civil litigation matters across the state. In his free time, Case enjoys traveling, seeing live music, and spending time with his wife and daughter.
