Elia Wilson focuses her practice on representing professionals and government entities that face legal liability, as well as entities seeking to appeal judgments against them. Elia clerked for the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas and interned with the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas and the Texas Fourteenth Court of Appeals, giving her a unique perspective on litigation at every stage, from trial to appeal.

Her experience includes insurance disputes, contract disputes, civil rights cases, and mass tort matters. She has developed an exceptional ability to identify legal nuances and anticipate issues before they become obstacles. Elia has a keen eye for detail and a disciplined approach to preparation, ensuring client cases are presented with precision and foresight.

Having worked closely with judges, Elia understands the importance of clarity, accuracy, and persuasive written advocacy. She knows how to locate the most relevant, up-to-date authority and apply it effectively to strengthen client positions, giving her clients an edge in high-stakes litigation.

Elia is described by her friends and colleagues as dependable, meticulous, and thorough, with a hardworking approach that friends and colleagues appreciate. Her philosophy is simple: preparation is the foundation of strong advocacy. Whether raising potential issues early, mastering the facts of a case, or crafting precise legal arguments, she ensures that her clients are always positioned to move forward with confidence.
