713-403-8205

Jennifer Luna represents clients and insurance companies, focusing on problem-solving and effective advocacy. She takes a kind yet assertive approach to her cases.

She is particularly passionate about practicing civil defense, as it allows her to help others understand the law that can often be mistakenly used or misunderstood. She is described as loyal, committed, driven, and passionate.

Jennifer aims to clarify the legal complexities through this work and ensure that individuals or businesses are not unfairly prejudiced or heavily impacted.

During law school, she honed her written and oral advocacy skills through involvement in national mock trial competitions and as an executive board member of the law review.

Representative Experience

Successfully drafted and argued Motion for Summary Judgments that were granted based on negligent causes of action.
