Neal Kieval has considerable experience in appellate, coverage, and general litigation matters including a 10-year stint at the Fourteenth Court of Appeals where he served as a briefing attorney and staff attorney and handled the Court's original proceeding docket. Neal's court service included assisting in drafting over 90 published judicial opinions in civil cases, in addition to over 100 unpublished judicial opinions in both civil and criminal cases. Neal is proud of the impact some of his work at the Court had on Texas jurisprudence and of the long-lasting relationships he formed there.

The main focus of Neal's private practice has been on appeals and insurance coverage matters, including drafting appellate briefs and motions, coverage opinions, denial and/or reservation of rights letters, and/or responses to tenders on behalf of general liability or commercial auto carriers. He has handled more than forty appeals and drafted nearly 150 coverage opinions, denial and ROR letters, and/or responses to Stowers demands or tenders. He also has extensive experience in general litigation matters researching, writing and arguing dispositive and procedural motions and jury instructions, and handling discovery.

Clients recognize that they can rely on Neal's experience, knowing that he will not only work hard, but efficiently, to find the right answer and craft the right legal argument on their behalf. They also know he will always give them a straight answer when the circumstances dictate. Client's appreciate Neal's detailed and methodical approach to solving the myriad of legal issues that confront them, especially involving complicated appellate and coverage issues.
